Than or then?

Than is used only in comparisons. Then has many uses.

So, if you are comparing things, use than, otherwise use then. Easy, isn't it?

Here are a few examples, find out whether it's than or then:

- he is older ____ me.
- finish your work, ____ we'll go for a walk.
- by ____ you'll have more money.
- wait until he arrives, we'll go ____.
- this test is harder ____ the last one.
- I'll drop by later and I'll see you ____.
- He likes to travel more ____ she does.
- we'll wait until ____ to call you.
- it was ____ that he realized his mistake.
- I like hamburgers better ____ hotdogs.
